Birding Respectfully in Banff National Park

Birding is enjoyable. But it's important to remember that the status of the world's birds is at risk due to human actions. Places like Banff National Park help birds through environmental conservation and restoration projects and programs. You can help by observing birds quietly and from a distance. Remain on designated trails and do not change habitat to improve bird viewing opportunities. Never feed birds, use recorded bird sounds, or shine lights on birds at night. Avoid using laser pointers and camera flashes on birds.
