Marvel at Its Precious Cargo

Discover the numerous artefacts uncovered by Parks Canada's underwater archeologists. You'll learn about the daily lives of people from New France in the 18th century, and about the role that the Acadians and Mi'gmaqs played in this mission for the colony.

Admire a Priceless Treasure

The wreck of the Machault is one of only three 18th century French frigates discovered to this day. Its state of preservation is simply remarkable. Admire the imposing wood and iron structure of a warship sent from France to bring supplies to and defend its colony from the Americas.

Join the Crew

In addition to the goods and munitions carried on board, the Machault was transporting 150 crew members and 100 soldiers packed into the steerage of the ship. You'll see just how different transatlantic crossings were in the 18th century.

New birch bark canoe

Parks Canada, in collaboration with Listuguj, have included a birch bark canoe handcraft by Mi'gmaq artisans to the exhibition.
