Welcome!

Stanley Park is one of the great urban parks of the world, with 400 hectares of West Coast rainforest, manicured lawns, lush gardens, sports fields, quiet trails, Seawall, stunning views, beautiful beaches and a host of cultural attractions. Take an hour, a day or a lifetime to explore this national historic site and world-renowned green oasis in the heart of Vancouver.

The Park Story

For almost a century and a half Stanley Park has been the setting of the Coast Salish people of the First Nations, the Musqueam, Squamish (Sḵwx̱wú7mesh) and Tsleil-Waututh. Many of the natural phenomena of this park have inspired First Nations stories and songs. This story of Stanley Park in 1886 passes to the Vancouver Park Board. Over the next 20 years the park was developed by the city, managed by the park board, and enjoyed by many as a place to relax, play, and enjoy the natural beauty of the area.

Seasonal Events

Spring: The Little Flower, the Easter Shawl and the Easter Blossom are among the spring events. The Vancouver Art Gallery, the Vancouver Art Museum, and the Vancouver Convention Centre all host spring exhibitions.

Summer: A variety of outdoor events, including concerts and art exhibits, are held at the Vancouver International Film Festival, the Vancouver Art Gallery, and the Vancouver Art Museum. The annual SeaBus is also a popular event, offering a scenic journey through the city.

Fall: A variety of outdoor events, including concerts and art exhibits, are held at the Vancouver International Film Festival, the Vancouver Art Gallery, and the Vancouver Art Museum. The annual SeaBus is also a popular event, offering a scenic journey through the city.

Winter: The Vancouver International Film Festival, the Vancouver Art Gallery, and the Vancouver Art Museum all host winter exhibitions.

First Nations

Great Falls is a beautiful waterfall that you can walk through. The history of the park and the people who have lived here is important, so in 1896, the first coastal Salish people of the First Nations stories and songs. This story of Stanley Park in 1886 passes to the Vancouver Park Board. Over the next 20 years the park was developed by the city, managed by the park board, and enjoyed by many as a place to relax, play, and enjoy the natural beauty of the area.

For the Family

First Nations storytelling, history and culture are important, so in 1896, the first coastal Salish people of the First Nations stories and songs. This story of Stanley Park in 1886 passes to the Vancouver Park Board. Over the next 20 years the park was developed by the city, managed by the park board, and enjoyed by many as a place to relax, play, and enjoy the natural beauty of the area.