

Entry Fees for Commercial Group Tour Operators

April 1/2000
to March 31/2002

VOLUME 4

A significant portion of visitors to Canada's national parks, national historic sites, historic canals and national marine conservation areas come as part of organized groups or on package tours. At Parks Canada we recognize the value of our commercial tour visitors.

Located in every province and territory, from coast to coast, those heritage places are among the premiere attractions Canada has to offer. They are special places, which have been set aside to preserve and present Canada's natural and cultural heritage.

You will find programs and facilities for all of your customers: adventurers, heritage travellers, ecotourists, vacationing families, and groups of any size.

Parks Canada is continuing to adapt its programs, services and fees to suit tour operator needs. At most parks and sites we now provide special rates for commercial operators. Billing arrangements and volume or shoulder season discounts are offered by a number of parks and sites.

Canada's nation-wide system of special places offers exceptional quality, service and value. Your clients will bring home memories of incredible vacation experiences.

For all time...

Parks Canada is responsible for safeguarding Canada's priceless natural and cultural heritage, including:

- one of the world's largest national parks systems
- 39 national parks
- 3 national marine conservation areas
- 145 national historic sites, including 9 historic canals
- 9 UNESCO World Heritage Sites

They just can't be replaced! We need your support in telling your clients about protecting the ecological and cultural integrity of these special places. Help us keep them healthy and whole — for their sake, for our sake.

Fully Independent Travellers

Parks Canada is working to adapt fees and services to better serve your FIT needs.

Daily permits for individual travellers can be purchased in advance or on consignment for many parks and sites. Annual and/or seasonal passes are available for individual travellers visiting national parks in Western and Atlantic Canada. Discounts are available for volume orders; minimum quantities may apply.

We will keep you informed as additional options are developed. Please contact the regional representative for more information.

Trip Planning

If you are planning a tour to Canada's national parks, national historic sites, historic canals and national marine conservation areas, let us help make the job easier. Special reference materials for members of the travel trade industry are available.

Payment Options

All these heritage places accept cash; most accept traveller's cheques, major credit cards and company cheques. At many parks and sites, billing arrangements and credit operator agreements are offered to operators bringing large numbers of visitors, or to operators visiting our parks and sites on a frequent basis.

Whatever your situation, there are a variety of ways to pay... and to save. Give our Parks Canada representatives a call and they will find the best payment option for your company.
