

JASPER NATIONAL PARK Day Hiking Guide

Elk, bighorn sheep, mountain goats and caribou must have established their own pathways through Jasper National Park long before humans arrived in the Canadian Rockies about 11 000 years ago. Aboriginal peoples, followed by explorers, fur-company employees, railway surveyors and settlers discovered and used these hooved-animal trails. Since the park was established in 1907, its natural trail network has been expanded and maintained for the benefit of everyone wanting to experience Jasper's wilderness. Whether you are strolling along the shores of Maligne Lake or hiking all day in the alpine, this guide will help you plan a trip that is safe, exciting and low impact.

While we aim to achieve high standards, inclement mountain weather and events can considerably change trail conditions instantly. Self reliance is important.

Sulphur Skyline

Maligne Lake Area

At Maligne Lake, you can walk the lakeshore, enjoy a forest trail or hike to the top of an easy peak.

20 Moose Lake Loop

2.7 km loop; 59 m elevation gain; 1-2 hours
Trailhead: The parking lot at the end of the Maligne Lake Road, starting at the Bald Hills Kiosk.

This trail stays in the woods, but the landscape is fascinating with little hills and hollows among the overgrown debris of a huge landslide. Thousands of years ago, half a billion cubic metres of rock fell from the ridge on the other side of Maligne Lake, blocking the valley and enlarging the lake to its present size.

21 Mary Schäffer Loop

3.2 km loop; no elevation gain; 1-2 hours
Trailhead: Turn in at the first parking lot at Maligne Lake. Take any path down to the shore and follow the paved trail left.

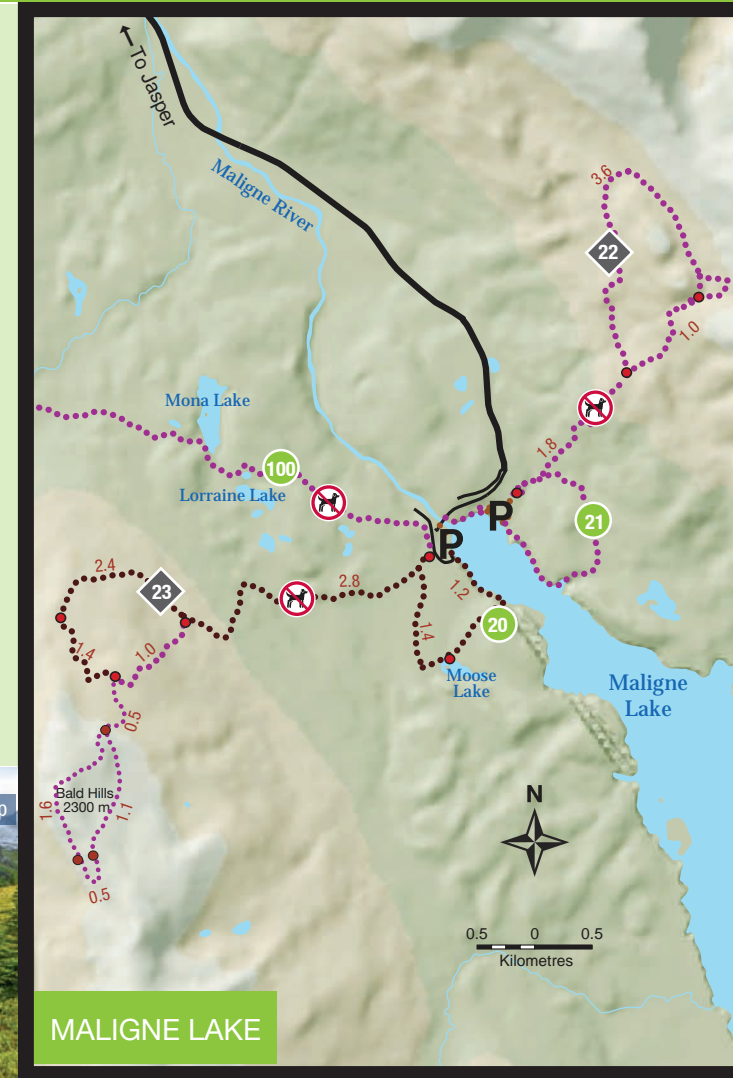

This trail is an easy stroll. Passing Curly Phillip's historic boathouse, the trail reaches a viewpoint that features a set of interpretive panels. Leaving the shoreline, the trail passes through lichen-rich stands of pine, spruce and fragrant subalpine fir as it loops back to the parking lot.

130 Nigel Pass

14.4 km return; 365 m elevation gain/loss; 5 hour round trip

1.8 km return; 60 m elevation gain/loss; 1 hour
Trailhead: Across from the Icefield Centre, at end of Toe of Glacier Road.

3.6 km return; minimal elevation gain; 1-2 hours
Trailhead: Directly across from the Icefield Centre.

Cross the moraines and glacial debris that the Athabasca glacier has left behind.

Calypso Orchid

125 Lower Sunwapta Falls

2.6 km return; Elevation gain/loss: 87 m; 1 hour
Trailhead: 54 km (30 min) south of Jasper on Hwy 93
Lower Sunwapta Falls is composed of three major waterfalls. The combination of solitude and open views to the surrounding mountains make this short hike very rewarding.

Athabasca Falls

Day use area
Trailhead: 30 km (20 min) south of Jasper, Junction of Hwy 93 and 93A
Feel the spray of the Athabasca River as it thunders into the canyon below. Stay on designated trails and behind railings. The rock beyond is slippery and dangerous.

Warning! Walking on the Athabasca glacier is not safe. As the Athabasca Glacier recedes, the ice at the toe has become hollow and is collapsing. The underlying water is extremely cold, fast moving and unpredictable. There is a serious risk of injury, hypothermia and drowning.

Over the years several people have died from falling into crevasses on the Athabasca Glacier. These deep, ice-cold cracks in the glacier lie hidden below a thin covering of snow that may collapse under a person's weight.
